

Magic Items

Miscellaneous Magic Items

HEREIN lies the descriptions, such as they are, of the magical items that are widely known to any prepared to open a book and read.

Limaceous Grease

Type One Use

Dice Pool 2d6

Refresh N/A

Difficulty 4

Allows the player to squeeze into small places when rubbed upon the skin.

Potion of Odic Visions

Type One Use

Dice Pool 2d6

Refresh N/A

Difficulty 4

Overcharge 12

Lets the player see the auras of other beings for a short period of time.

Book of Leviathan

Enochian Keys

Compass of Seeking

The needle of this fine golden compass always points in the direction of the last object that has been imprinted upon it.

Pompatus Chapeau

A fine hat made by XXX of YYY that distracts all those who know anything about fashion. Civilized observers must make a difficult will power check or gain the Distracted condition.

Runcible of XXXX

Bag of Snigglets

Type One Use

Dice Pool 2d6

Refresh N/A

Difficulty 4

Overcharge 12

A small bag containing 3d6 snigglets. Salted garlic snigglets are, of course, a delicacy from far-off XXXX. Their moluscy, truffley flavour is overwhelming. XXXX

Doctrine of the Small Gods

Dice Pool 1d4

Refresh N/A

Difficulty 2

There are many minor and highly specialized deities that spy on this world from planes both near or deep. Hungry for attention they listen for prayers. This slight book is dedicated to the small gods and contains the scrawlings of a gibbering prophet. Amongst the deranged rambling text are $1d4 + 1$ prayers to various highly specialized, highly obscure, and very minor deities. When read the character may ask for a small boon from the god. Once all the spells have been cast the book collapses into a different dimension in order to spread the word.

The default chance to succeed is Very Difficult using a std check. The difficulty level can be reduced by one step if the character provides suitable embellishment for his prayer (e.g. the name of the small god, their varied domains, and their achievements). The difficulty level can be reduced by a further step if the task is very specific and very minor or increased by a step if the task is demanding of the small god.

Snare Scripture

Snare scriptures are small books that appear similar to a Doctrine of the Small Gods. This is not by unlikely coincidence. As a spider, burning with hunger in the icy night of their existence, pale entities wait patiently for the unwary to read from their books which they carefully seed across the inner planes.

XXXX

Steel Termites

Necronomicon

Hand of Glory

Eyes of Azathoth

Kept in little clay jars with a layer of oil, this dust when thrown in the air immediately ignites causing blindness to those who fail against it for one turn.

Compendium Maleficarum

Is a witch-hunter's manual

Pearl of Atlach-Nacha

A glossy black sphere the size of a mans fist. When the secret words are spoken it hatches into an astral spider and attacks the being it is commanded to. After some time the spider d

Staff of Scorpion Wood

The wood from a deeply poisonous tree, that hails from the cold deserts of the west. Staffs of this wood make a poison attack whenever they hit.

Ring of the Serpent King

Allows the wearer to mesmerize someone by looking into their eyes. They must make a Very Difficult Std Check added by their will power or gain a Hypnotized Aspect with a starting difficulty equal to 14 minus their will power modifier or do as instructed.